Shahnawaz Hussain Reviews Air-India’s Performance

Syed Shahnawaz Hussain, Hon’ble Minister of Civil Aviation, reviewed Air-India’s performance at a meeting held with the Management in Mumbai on March 12, 2003.

At the outset, Mr. J.N. Gogol, WEC, Finance, Air-India, and Mr. Anurang Goel, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Civil Aviation, who had accompanied the Hon’ble Minister, also gave some information about the current situation of the airline. Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain expressed his happiness at Air-India having received 11 awards in 2002 from various governmental and financial parameters during the year 2003-2004. He informed the Minister that the airline was expecting to record a profit of over Rs 100 crores, but these projections have had to be scaled down to the unprecedented hike in the price of fuel which constitutes a substantial portion of the airline’s expenditure.

Upgraded Product
Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain was informed that installation of flatbed seats in the First Class of Air-India’s Boeing 747-400 aircraft would be completed by March 2003. Work on the refurbishing of the Executive Class of the Boeing 747-400 and Boeing 747-300 Combes is expected to be completed by the end of May 2003. It was informed that Air-India should also effect changes in the seats of the First Class on the aircraft on loan from Korean Airlines so that the product is consistent in quality.

Air-India should also commence advertising once the retrofit program- me is completed and its product is made comparable with that of other leading international airlines, he said. Mr. V.K. Verma, Commercial Director, informed the Hon’ble Minister that a 30-second television commercial, the theme of which is ‘India has Changed, So Have We’, will be aired on prime television channels shortly.

Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain was informed of the salient features of our new summer schedule, which came into effect from March 2003. The new schedule was expressed confidence that the summer schedule, which includes more flights to the Gulf, standardised departures for daily flights between Indian and Gulf cities, between Indian and S.E. Asian cities, introduction of the fourth weekly direct service to Newark in New Jersey, and seamless connections to interior cities in India as well, are appreciated by the travelling public.

Baggage Handling
Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain suggested that Management should initiate steps to reduce expenditure on claims for loss of baggage. He stated, would help in minimising com- plaints from passengers in this regard. He desired that responsibility should be fixed for loss of baggage and, since Delhi and Mumbai are sensitive sta- tions, that baggage should be brought to zero level.

He was informed that Air-India’s baggage handling is better than the industry average and was assured that necessary steps, including installation of CTGV at various airports, have already been implemented.

The Hon’ble Minister opined that cargo should be accorded higher priority. He also said that Gaya has great potential for Buddha traffic from Japan and linking Guwahati with Gaya should be considered.

On-Time Performance
Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain was happy to learn that Air-India’s on-time performance is above 80 per cent and the technical deplatchability is around 98 per cent. However, he stated that the on-time performance could be improved with further with interaction between the various Departments. He suggested that more should be done to improve on-time performance to take care of the passengers, particularly when flights are delayed due to bad weather conditions.

The Hon’ble Minister was informed that Gulf Cities would be put in place by May this year so that complaints received from passengers are handled more expeditiously.

Among the other issues discussed, were Haj operations for the year 2004. Mr. Shahnawaz Hussain suggested that Air-India should undertake next year’s Haj flights too with its own air- craft variety of leased aircraft. He complimented Air-India for the suc- cessful completion of Haj operations this year which added, has im- enhanced the image of Air-India and that of the Government of India worldwide.

ISO Certification for EOD and GSD

The Engine Overhaul and Ground Services departments have recently been audited under the new Quality System in accordance with ISO/IEC 9001:2000 standards by the Bureau of Indian Standards. The attainment of ISO certification is a major step forward for GSD, as it enhances our market position and provides customers with an added level of confidence in the quality of our services.

Engine Overhaul

EOD has been granted the licence for overhaul, repair, testing, recondition, inspection of aircraft engines and auxiliary power units (APUs), including servicing in the areas of rotor balancing and repairs such as peening, plasma, plating, coating and heat treatment. The certification which, however, excludes design, development and purchase activities, is valid for three years effective August 5, 2002.

EOD not only overhauls engines installed on our aircraft, but also those of Indian Airlines, and renders services in engine maintenance, overhaul, testing and repair of engine/aircraft components at place part level to other airlines as well.

Ground Services

The certification for GSD, which covers ramp handling services to Air-India and other domestic and international carriers in Mumbai, and transport services to Air-India personnel at Mumbai, is valid from February 24, 2002 to February 23, 2005. GSD handles around 42,000 flights annually at six international airports in India — Mumbai, Delhi, Chennai, Kolkata, Kochi and Thrivunnachathurpur. EOD handles 11,600 flights for Air-India and 23,000 of customer airlines, including Air France, Delta, Singapore Airlines, Emirates, British Airways, Libyan Airways, Gulf Air, Malaysia Airlines, Thai Airways, Saudia, and Lufthansa. Employees belonging to the Department work efficiently, adhering to all safety and health procedures and ensuring on-time departures.
