

There are a few places on earth which offer you
an unusual awakening at every bend.
Which is probably why a visit to India is often described as a discovery.

What's amazing is that the wonders never seem to cease.
Allow me then, to paint for you another pleasant trip
in these pages.

To bring you face to face with yet another timeless part of India.

Where arts and crafts date back to a bygone era
and skills are handed down from generation to generation, almost like a family heirloom.

Where a working day may not fetch much money
but where every moment is a fulfillment of life.

Where the paradox, the colour, the diversity,
the spontaneity of India is more alive than anywhere else.
Come turn the pages of the year 1992.

Come, meet the Great Indian Masters themselves at work.
And then, let each day, just like their priceless art,
make a lasting impression on you.
